By Telegraph to The Times. DAYTON, July 26.—[By the Associated Press.] This has been a day of gloom in this city, caused by the awful disaster to a Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton excursion train at Middletown last night. Three persons were killed outright: William Matthews, aged 13; Lydia Freier, aged 22; Frank Simoner, aged 17. Three of the injured are in a critical condition: Joseph B. Cleval, Frank Patterson and Joseph H.

The following were seriously but it is thought not fatally hurt: Warren Thompson, Mary Reese, Fred Wildner, Mark Emrick, Edith Tuttle, R. S. Tuttle, Kate Schlein, Elden M. About twenty more received painful bruises and cuts.

William G. Douglass, one of the committeemen in charge of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton excursion to Woodsdale, tells this story of the wreck: A drawbar about the middle of the excursion train broke and they stopped at Middletown half an hour to patch it up. Red lights were not promptly placed on the rear car, and just a the train was pulling out a heavy freight came in at a high rate of speed. Engineer, Schwind saw the flagman waving the danger signal and immediately called for brakes, shut off steam, and with the fireman jumped. It was too late to stop the freight. An instant later the crash came. The two rear cars of the excursion train were nis dynasty. King Fomare died June 12, aged 52 years. The islands were annexed to France in 1880, and for this, it is stated, King Pomare received $12,000. Neighbors Rally and Fill the Desperado with Buckshot-His Previous Career as a Murderer

By Telegraph to The Times.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) July 26.—[By the Associated Press.] This morning near Paris a tramp attacked the family of Nathan S. Conway, killing him and his wife, fatally wounding one son and dangerously wounding another. Neighbors coming up fired at him, one shot resulting fatally.

Conway and wife were each 61 years old and their sons Charles and William, aged 33 and 28, were sitting on the verandah in company with William's wife and three children and two nieces, Misses Florence and Lucy Leaguer. A negro named Craig came up and asked for a drink of water which was given him. He thereupon lifted a rusty scythe blade and asked if it was not a good knife. Charley Conway nodded and the negro throwing down and the negro throwing down the cup of water struck him with the knife, splitting his skull. The rest of the family ran into the house. Craig continued to hack the young man till he thought him dead. He then attacked the father, who had returned, and killed him. Then the mother coming up had her head split open and coming up had her head split open and instantly died.

After the negro had mannely backed her body in a dozen places he attacked William Conway, cutting him in the head and body as he ran. He had just struck Conway to the ground when George Bailey, a neighbor, attracted by the screams, came up and shot Craig twice with buckshot. This seemed to have no effect, but other neighbors came up and a young man shot Craig with a pistol. Craig fell beside a hay-stack and died in a few minutes from the effects of the buckshot wounds. The pistol ball had glanced around his head.

The Conways came to Bourbon eighteen months ago from a farm near Cynthiana. They were orderly citizens and were held in the highest esteem. Craig said he had killed seven persons and intended to kill that whole family. He is known to have killed his motherin-law. He has always been known as a brother adapters fellow and was a brother head. a desperate fellow and was a brother of Charlie Craig now under sentence of death in Cincinnati.

The former made a happy speech, su table for the occ sion, all present fell into line by twos, and headed by a brass band playing a dirge, marched across the sind-hills to the edge of the ocean, where a bier, upon which lay a body, was deposited. Another short speech was followed by the application of a match to a piece of fuse on the funeral pyre. In a few seconds the whole party was illuminated by a number of carmine and green lights, piaced at intervals along the beach, the effect upon the big breakers being indescrib bily beautiful. BAB. SUNDAY'S FESTIVITIES.

THE WASH-UP.

After as toothsome a meal as was ever put before 250 hungry men had been discussed, and very little time was wasted about it, the band struck up a lively jig and the fus commenced. From that time until a few minutes before train time in the evening, there was a continual round of excitement and joility, the only intermissions being brief spelis for dinner and supper, and even on these important occasions the merriment did not entirely cease, for some there were who disregarded everything but the enjoyment of the moment.

The arrival of the morning train from Los Angeles was signalled by a rush for The Times, and every paper on board was bought up before the train came to a standstill.

The crowd was augmented by several Union League Festivities at San Juan. THE BOYS BREAK THE RECORD

The crowd was augmented by several hundred people from Los Angeles and intervening towns, among whom were a numbar of ladies, and a large detegation of Spanish-Americans rode or drove over from Capistrano and places in the vicinity, so that at il o'clock there were fully 600 people at the pavilion.

An interesting programme was improvised, however, for the occasion, and every conceivable kind of athietic sport was induiged in for the benefit of the visitors, the various avents being alternated with music by the band.

The beach appeared to offer great attractions to the younger members of the crowd,
and the bath-houses were generously patronized all day.

The special feature of the afternoon was. For the past few days that pleturesqu out somewhat unfrequented marine resort San Juan-by-the-Sea, in Orange county, ha been the scene of an unusual ctivity and excitement, the occasion being the annual "wash-up" of the members of the Union League of this city.

This is the third annivers ry of tha organization, and as a success, socially and therwise, it totally eclipses its predecessors. The first "round-up" w.s held a Catalina, but last year the idea was sug-gested and acted upon, that the club visit San Juan. So successful was the experiment that it was unanim usly resolved to repeat it this year, with a more satisfactory result than before. This is in great measure due to the untir-ing efforts of President J. A. Keliy and his ing efforts of President J. A. Kelly and his alds, Secretary S. A. Houghton and the following directors: E. H. Hutchinson, J. M. Meredith, F. K. House, G. Arnold, J. A. Pirtie, E. W. Kinzie and B. N. Marble, who formed the advance guard and took possession of the "dominions of Gov. Gen. Dick Egan" on Friday afternion. They were rendered most valuable assistance by Don Marco Forster of San Juan Capistrano, and the Southern California Railway Company, the latter tendering the use of its pavilion on the beach to the cinb, and extending several other smaller, but none the less appreciated, court-sies.

beach to the cinb, and extending several other smaller, but none the less appreciated, court size.

The tot mer, in his well-known hospitable manner, spared neither expense nor rains to provide for the confort and enjoyment of the Leaguers.

The first detaconment of the main body lett this city at 8:15 o'clock on Saturday morning, about 150 members being landed at their destination about 11 o'clock. They at once proceeded to make themselves at home, and the earlier part of the day waspent in games and sperts of all sorts, everyone apparently entering into the splirit of the wair with a zest.

After diuner. Don Marco Forster and his son and a number of vaqueros entertained the crewd by giving an exciting exhibition of the adrivitness and skill in bailing built in a large corral erected for the occasion within a stone's throw of the pavilion. Four immense animals were turned into the pen one after the other, and after being excited to anger by the waving of a red mantilia by Don Marco, or his son, who were on foot, would rush at the offending object in vain, for by a quick movement to one side or the other the vaquero would avoid the built's vicious lunges.

RECEPTION OF THE MAIN CROWD.

RECEPTION OF THE MAIN CROWD.

At the close of these exercises preparations were made for the reception of the main body, which was expected by the evening train, in a manner bentting the evening train, in a mainer beauting of cocasion.

In all over two hundred passengers boarded this train at Los Angelei for San Juan, and a right royal time was experienced. One of the primary rules of the "wash up? being that every person participating in it shall be as unconventional as possible; white shirts, suff hats, cravats and ther necessaries are taboued, and whe betide the unfortunate who retuses to compily.

betide the unfortunate who recuses to com-ply.

The first victim was Conductor Leonard, who is always as neat as a new pin, and who entered one of the Leaguers' special cars innocently to collect fares, in uniform. He was immediately siczed, but escaped to the baggage car, whence he soon reappeared in an old battered hat and minus collar or cravat, after which he experienced no fur-ther difficulty.

in an old oattered hat and minus collar or cravat, after which he experienced no further difficulty.

Hervey Lindley had the temerity to appear in a tall silk hat, long linen duster, and yellow kid gloves, but the trouble he had with them, and the fun they occasioned for his companions, no doubt compensated him for their loss, which occurred at the end of his journey. As he stepped off the train the hat flew from his head into the midst of a group of men, who at once instituted an impromptu game of foot all. The rest of the attire met with the same fate. Even Justice Austin, the staid and dignited police judge, was not ex-mpt from the ruling of this court, and his spotless white tie was torn from his neck, after a warning ro remove it had passed unheeded.

The gonial Harry Hazard was on this train, and his arrival was signalled by a serenade by both the brase and Kazoo bands, which were on the ground. He at once joined forces with a number of the younger members of the party in a hotly contested game of football, but unfortunately was soon placed hors de combat by an accident i kick on the shin.

"CREMATION OF DULL CARE."

"CREMATION OF DULL CARE." After supper the business part of the pro-gramme was disposed of, and speeches were made by a number of prominent citizens. suppused body was a dummy, from whose form a series of very effective pyrotechnical displays cumanted, tasting about fifteen or twenty minutes. The management of this surprise party was unanimously congratulated upon the success of its venture, which exceeded that of many more pretentious displays.

lated upon the success of its venture, exceeded that of many more pretentious displays.

The party then returned to the pavilion, where a rollicking good time was induged in until midnight, when a genuine tausile supper was furnished.

The ranks of the merrymakers commenced to thin out somewhat after this, but the Kazoo band of fifteen pleces proceeded on a tour of investigation, and serenaded those who had retired for some time. A number of the older members of the party occupied berths in a siesper, which had been sidetracked for the purpose, but the younger ones sought act. which had oceal site-based to the pur-pise, but the younger ones sought soft places on the beach and the sandhills sur-rounding the pavilion. A few, however, did not retire at all, but spent the time in a social manner in the more sectuded part of the pavilion.

SUNDAY'S RESTIVITIES.

As the first faint glimmer of approaching day dawned upon the hilitops at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the beach in front of the pavilion, which presented the appearance a short time earlier of a desert waste, assumed an air of unwonted activity, and prominent citizens, of whose whereabouts innumerable inquiries had been made about midninght, were to be seen in various positions, taking in their surroundings. Some were just awakening while others were walking slowly but surely in the direction of the p villon, where "eye-openers" were in constant demand until breakfast time, some two and one-half hours later. One beculiarly noticeable feature was the assumption of innocent surprise upon the face of each new-comer as he met another, every man being seemingly in ignorance of the fact that he did not occupy the beach alone.

About the same time a number of inanimate objects which had lain by the glowing embers, which were all that remained of the giroious fire upon which a whole beef had been barbeched, assumed the shape of busy-cooks, who in a remarkably short space of time, had transformed the embers into roaring fires, whence the welcome odors of boiling coffee, fried bace in and other equally tempting viands soon emanated.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.

It is Now in Full Running Order.

FIFTEEN INMATES UP TO DATE

Classes Being Formed and the Regu lar Routine Arranged-The Build-Ings and Grounds-Substan-

The State reform school at Whittier opened its doors on the first of July. On that date there were three commitments, two girls and one boy. Since that time twelve more have been committed, bringing the total number up to fifteen, of w f ur are girls and eleven boys. Two of girls attempted to escape a few nights after they were sent to the school, but were cap-tured the following day and returned. Aside from this episode nothing has trans-pired to break the routine as has been mapped out.

and the bath-houses were generously patronized all day.

The special feature of the afternoon was, as on the previous day, a series of bullfights in the large corral, within a stone's throw of the paydion, which was, however, of a more exciting nature than that of Saturday, several of the vaqueros and spectators being downed by the infuriated quadrupeds, much to the amusement of

PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT. superintendest, Dr. Wa ter Lindiey.

The main building, known as the "Administration Building," is now practically completed and furnished, with the exception of the elevator and the electric lighting plant, both of which have been ordered and will soon be in place—in f et, all the machinery for the electric plant is aiready on the ground, and is being put up as fast as possible. All the necessary wires were put in during the construction of the building, and all that is necessary is to put the dynamos in place, attent the incandescent lights, make the connections, and it is ready for use. PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT.

A serious accident, which occurred about 3 o'clock p.m. in connection with the exhibit, caused the only cloud which appeared to mar the serioity of this day's pleasure. While the vaqueros were driving a furious buil uown to the c-rrai, an old man named George Wightman, from Sants Ana, who is residing temporarily at San Juan, walked up the road from the beach toward the beast. As he approached one of the vaqueros roped the buil, but shouting a warning to the old man to get out of the way. Unfortunately Wightman was deaf, and, all unconscious of his danger, walked toward the irritated animal, which darted sideways, thus eevering the rope. It rushed and lunged viciously twice at the old man, hurling him violently in the air. The beast was thrown and the old man was picked up and carried home, when Drs. Weldon, Day sson and Smith were called. They found that one of, the buil's horns had penetrated and smashed the breast bone and three ribs' on the right-side, the fractured bones penetrating the lung. The other horn had inflicted an ugly wound in the unfortunate man's recovery was very doubtful. Son after this the festivities closed with a tamale supper, a rush for the train, a "howning" trip, and a feeling of general regret that it was all over.

CONVERTED TO MORMONISM.

Three Families Near Pomoria Have Embraced the Filth.

A special dispatch from Pomona to the San Francisco Examiner says: "Mormon elders have made several important conversions in this section, and naturally there is great talk on the subject among all classes of people. It seems that Elders Johnson and McKoon, from Salt Lake City, have been quietly at work emong some farmers in this locality during the past two weeks without arousing any interest until weeks without arousing any interest until ingrenow. When they had gone into other paris of California Gilpert Sloyd, S. M. Putney will and Peter Sweeting and their wives and of su

Putney is a nephew of the late Senator Joseph McDonald of Indiana, and, like Sweeting and Sloyd, is a prosperous and intelligent farmer. All the converts have for years been leaders in Methodist and Presbyterian churches, and have given largely to the church and for charity. Mr. Putney says that he and the other converts are now certain that Mormonism is the true religion and that Joe Smith was truly a prophet sent from God. He now wonders that he served Christ so long when the true prophet, Smith, was despised and abandoned. He says that Sweeting, Sloyd and himself, with their families, will sell their farms at Cuo monga and Covina as soon as possible and remove to Sait Lake City. He adds:

"Our wives are just as earnest as their husbands, and declare themselves willing to allow further marriage if it is thought advisable. We are all convinced that polygamy is the best passport that any man or woman can have to heavenly bliss."

A MODERN DETECTIVE.

WHEREIN HE DIFFERS FROM THE "OLD SLEUTH" TYPE.

The Air of Mystery Has Disappeared and the Assistance of the Press Sought After—Striking Examples.

The average American detective, when it comes to detecting evil-doers, ranks with the crack thief-takers of the old country, but the star detectives of this country outrank all other nations in this line, but, the star detectives of this country outrank all other nations in this line, and as a rule they are more honest in their dealings. The cause of this is simple. The great American newspaper runs to sensational articles more or less, and for this reason the detective is ever under the eye of the enemy of crime in whatever form it may show itself, and no one knows this better than the detective.

In their search for sensational news the reporters on the d ily press have to depend to a very great extent on the criminal detective, and in nine cases out of ten the police reporter and the detective work hand in hand.

This state of affairs has only existed during the past twelve or fourteen years, and as a consequence a wonderful improvement has taken place in both the detective and the reporter. Both have become sharper and more raild in their work, and the detective has been taught that the average reporter is so thoroughly wrapped up in the stringest bonds of friendship will hold him be k when it comes to writing up a sensation, and if the detective g es wrong he will be deat with in the 8 imm manner that an entire stranger would be shown up to the public.

District of the control of the control of piace to take a peep at the old detective as he was before the combination was entered into, or before reporters and detectives joined hands in chasing down evil-doers. The old detective took his first lesson from the yellow back novel which siways painted the kreetest living detective as a mysterious individual who worked alone, never opened his mouth and was sure to be at the right spot at the right time. He was he dup as a man possessed of the most wonderful perceptive powers, who could look through a brick wall and tell just what the inmates of a room were doing. He could glue his ear to the keyhole at the front door of a big house and catch every word of a whispered conversation in a room at the rear of the building. He could take a trail and put any bloodhound in the land to shame. In fact, his powers were unlimited; but in all these trashy works the writers held to the theory that no man could become a first-class detective until he learned how to work slone.

trashy works the writers held to the theory that no man could become a first-siass detective until he learned how to work alone, and keep his mouth shut on all occasions. This art of mystery and silence was the principal impediment of a thorough detective, and the amaleur started out with that belief so thoroughly implanted in his head that no power could remove it, and the chestnut detective went to his grave firmly believing that to be successful in the capture of criminals, he must keep his clew to himself, and look as wise and mysterious as possible.

They carried this system so far that even the mention of the case they were working

The management or the school immediately found that they had two classes of girls to deal with, one the comparatively innocent girls of 11 or 13 years, and the other the juvenile prostitute. They realized the necessity of keeping these two classes spart, and no communication is allowed between them.

The inmates are under the personal supervision of the officers from the time they get up in the morning until they go to bed at night, and everything possible is done to make them put in their time to the best advantage.

Owing to the limited number of pupils, at present, the regular classes have not been formed, but all the immates so far have been provided for, and as new arriv is come in they will be assigned to the trades or occupations for which they are best adapted.

"Infants" between the ages of 10 and 18 years will be received. If the parents are able a charge of $18 per month is made, but if they are not, then it is free.

A regular cadet uniform of gray will be worn by the boys, and the girls will also have a distinctive dress.

Visitors are admitted at all times except Sunday,

It is expected that there will be at least 100 inmates by the first of the year. The total capacity of the institution, as at present arranged, is 250, but this number can be doubed, should the occasion ever arise.

are never heard of unless they are elected to office or get a piace on some p-lice force through political influence, but they give the newspaper reporters untold trouble and are the best friend the criminal has, for they never fall to help him in his flight.

The modern detective is altogether a different kind of a man and this reform is gdue to a very great extent to the newspapers, that had to work with detectives to get the class of news they wanted.

The elder Pinkerton, who founded the greatest detective agency in thd world, was the first to have his eyes opened to the fact that the daily press is the champion detective of crime.

Mr. Pinkerton discovered that crooks of all kinds feared a write-up more than they feared the police, and he cast about for the reason. He soon learned that if the commission of a crime is kept a secret only a few officers and detectives, who lived in the neighborhood where the crime was committed, entered in the chase, and all the wrong-doer had to do was to ship his quarters and go on with his work. On the other hand, if the deed is made public in ters and go on with his work. On the other hand, if the deed is made public in the press and a description of the criminal is given hundreds and prob by thousands of detectives are on the watch for him at of detectives are on the watch for him at occe, and his chance of escape is very silm.

Mr. Pinkerton's common sense and experience with criminals told him that it was natural for a man who has committed a crime to give himself away it he thinks the whole world knows of the crime and has read a description of him. He also knew that the criminal has a home some p ace, and if he is suspected and leaves his home suddenly, some of his neighbors are liable to give him away to the officers. Or course Mr. Piskerton knew that by making his cases public he ran the chance of having to divide the honor of the capture with some other officer, but he was a broad-gauge man, and his desire to suppress crime and punish criminals had mere weight with him than a little vain glory, so he freed himself of all petty jealousy and went to work. He not only enteredinto full fellowship with the daily papers, but his most valued advisors were among the police rep rtera, and everybody knows what a success he was as a thief-taker when he died. His sons have carried on the agency in the same way and today this agency stands at the head of all others.

This system has been adopted in all large citius, especially where chiefs of police and detectives have been in the service for some years and "Old Sleuth" with his scaled lips and mysterious ways is rapidly going out of date.

THE CHURCHES,

Rev. Mr. Thomson at the Theater.

"THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS

The Subject of an Eloquent Sermo astors Preparing for Their Vacations-Religious

There were a great many empty pews in the churches yesterday, owing to the hot wave which has been giving Angeleños a taste of Arizona temperature during the past three days. The popularity of Rev. J. S. Thomson, pastor of Unity Church, was evident from the large audience who braved the heat to listen to his last sermon before his vacation of two months. The Los Angeles Theater oved a cool and delightful auditorium and the services were very interesting to all, Miss Boynton's solo was unusually fine, though the music at this church aiways calls for the highest praise. Lyman Beecher, father of Brooklyn's famous preacher, once said that a sermon to be good should be full of "rabbits' ears" and Mr. Thomson's disurse abounded in strong points, standing up sharp and clear, like veritable rabbits ears. His theme was "The Forgiveness of Sins," and the following extracts give a glimpse of some of the bright thoughts expressed by Dr. Thomson:

There is no such thing as forgiveness of sin, but the forgiveness of sins is possible. We must suffer the prnaity of sin. Anything done wrong unconsciously is sin, and we suffer thereby. For instance, a man has an ax for a good purpose, but he uses it ignorantly with untrained hands, is two wounded, and so severely that his leg must be amputated, and through his whole life he suffers from the wrong-doing, though it was unconscious sin.

It seems that the suffering from these unconscious wrong-doings is a warning that cries "Stop! and see what you are doing."

was unconscious all.

"Successions all the second of the control o yesterday, Rev. Dr. Ormiston of Pasadena delivered two of his most powerful discources at the First Presbyterian Church. While his hearers engaged in a sort of silent applause by the constant swaying of fans and hymn-book covers, the Doctor was apparently insensible to the sultry atmosphere. As he remarked at the close of the morning service: "I create a draught by my gestures, and so keep cool." He took for his morning text, the twelfth chapter of Daniel. 13th verse, "But go thou thy way till the end be; for thou shait rest, and stand in thy lot at the end of the days." The theme was introduced by dwelling upon the silent passage of generation after generation into the great unknown and the value of prophesy in affording mankind g impses of the future. The irreverent assurance of those who pride themselves upon explaining every passage in the prophetical books was shown to be impious sampering with things above and beyond all human ken. If the prophets, awestruck with the tremendous weight of truth thrust upon them, could not fully understand what they imparted, how should we be able? "Go thy way unto the end," making sure you have the mind and will of God. Go on, for amid the wreck of nations and crash of worlds the believer is safe. I have no patience with the people who want to fly to Heaven straightwy. The best proof that you are ready for Heaven is that you are doing your best here."

The Doctor developed four heads from the text, as follows: Human events are arranged in a grand succession, that their weight and influence baffle human inquiry, that they find their culmination in the "and of days," and that every man then shall stand alone on his true merits.

Stanneh old Scotch thinking, with its ultra-positive views, and dis loyalty to God, pervades every sentence and gesture of Dr. Ormiston's, and bristles at the tips of his fron-gray hair, whose peculiar spipearance reminds at once of Henrik Ibsen. Depth and originality mark all the Doctor's utterances.

We have made such arrangements as enable us to offer the Chicago Singer Sewing Machines

At lower rates than ever before for a good machine, and we offer our readers the advantage of the unprecedented bargains.

This machine is made after the latest models of the Singer machines, and is a perfect fac-sim le in shape, ornamentation and appearance. All the parts are made to guarderate the same as the Singer, and are constructed of precisely the same insterials.

The utmost care is exercised in the selection of the metals used, and only the verbest quality is purchased. Each machine is utmost nicety and exactness and no machine is permitted by the inspector to go out of the shots until it has been fully test d and proved to do perfect work, and run light and without noise.

The Chicago Singer Machine has a very important improvement in a Loose Balance Wheel so constructed as to permit winding bobbins without removing the work from the machine.

The Loose Balance Wheel is actuated by a solid bolt passing through a collar securely pinned to the shaft outside of the balance wheel, which bolt is firmly held to toosition by a strong spiral spring. When a bobbin is to be wound, the bolt is pulled out far enough to release the balance wheel, and turned slightly to the right or left, where it is held by a stooping until the bobbin is filled. Where the machine is liable to be meddled with by children, the bolt can be left out of the wheel when not in use, so that the machine can not be operated. boit can be left out of the wheel when not in use, so that the machine can not be operated by the treadle. The thread eyelet and the needle clamp are made self-threading, which is a very great

Each Machine is Furnished with the Following Attachments:

FOOT HEMMER,
FOOT RUFFLER,
TUCKER,
PACKAGE OF NEEDLES,
CHECK SPRING,

6 HEMMERS, all diderent widths, 1 SCREW DRIVER, 1 GAUGE, 1 GAUGE SCREW, 1 THREAD CUTTER, 1 BINDER, 1 BINDER, 1 INSTRUCTION BUOK,

The driving wheel on this machine is admitted to be the simplest, easiest running and most convenient of any. The machine is solf-threading, has the very best tension and 'bread liberator, is made of the best material, with the wearing parts hardened, and is finished in a superior style. It has veneered cover, drop-lest table, 4 end drawers and centerswing drawer. The manufacturers warrant every machine for five years.

High Testimonials From Persons Using This Machine:

MIDDLETON. Tenn., Dec. 18, 1889,
I received your premium sewing machine
one year ago and am well pleased with it.
Would not exchange it for machines sold here

STEWART ON SILVER.

Senator Stewart paints a most rosea'e picture of the benefits that would scerue to the United States from the free coinage of silver, Here is an extract from a column letter which he wrote to a New York paper:

wrote-to a New York paper:

Let silver be restored and the volume of real money increased and prosperity will foliow as the light of day follows the rising sun. Prices will rise, and producers of wealth will be rewarded by the enhanced will be farm sand farm products will be enhanced, and agriculturists can pay off their mortgages, support their families and educate their children.

Stock, will rise the people will

Stocks will rise, the people will have money to buy them, and stock exchanges will be overrun with business in filling the increasing orders from people who will be encour ged to buy because the prices are advancing. Business will be active and the merchant will prosper because the people are prosperous, and all who are industrious can supply themselves with the necessaries and many of the luxuries of life, and pay and many of the luxuries of life, and pay cash on cellivery.

Even the sordid usuer will be benefited, the danger of loss by the bankruptcy of his debtors will be removed. Safe security will be ample at reasonable interest, because men of enterprise can afford to borrow money to livest in property, and pay good interest when property is advancing in price.

On the other hand an esteemed Chicago contemporary under the head of "Senator Stewarts's Nonsense," declares that "if Sewart had a sing e grain of common sense he must know that such adoption of free coinage would quickly reduce us to a silver standard and expel every dollar of gold from circulation, as it did during the war." This paper further pays kiaski. its compliments to Senator Stewart as follows:

There are now 400 millions of silver dol-There are now 400 millions of silver dollars in circulation in the form of coin or cer ificates. It is curlous that Stewart doesa't know this fact. The truth is he doesa't know what he is talking about. And he ought to be ashamed of himself for the persistent misstatement that the free coinage of silver by the United States alone would mean bimetallism. He must know, if he has any sense, it would speedly result in the worst kind of monometallism, under which the people would have less specie than now to form the busis of a circulation. If he does not know it he must be one of the biggest donkeys in the whole country. Views or the silver question are as Views or the silver question are as various and opposing as those on the tariff. Stewart is an extreme silver man and, representing a State whose chief product is silver, his opinions naturally partake more or less of the character of paid advocacy.

In this connection, a recent pithy remark of John Sherman's is worth quoting:

I c n appreciate the earnest demand of the producers of 'silver builion that the United States should pay $1.20 an ounce for silver builion, which in the mrikets of the world has been for a series of years worth only about $1 in ounce—sometimes a little more, sometimes a little less—but I cannot appreciate why any farmer or other producer should desire that the Government should pay for any article more than its market value.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE MATTERS.

The rumored big movement on part of the Farmers' Alliance to engineer a corner in wheat is denied by W. C. Crum, general manager of the New York bureau. He says, however, that farmers would do well to hold their wheat for remunerative prices, in preference to allowing it to fall into he hands of unscrupulous speculators. Upon this advice word was sent ou through the bureau two weeks ago advising farmers to hold their wheat As to a combination among farmer Mr. Crum said:

the Department of Public Instruction.

TAHITI is now a French province in name as well as fact, owing to the death of King Pomare and an agreewhole plot, for while champloning the cause of the farmer he is well known as a Knight of lamber leader in the West, He is looking for the Presidential nomination in 1882. He nesitates to urge a wheat combine, which would rifect the price of the bread of those whose suffrages he must have > President Polk of the alliance hi just returned to Washington from a can Colored Men's Mexican Coloniza-southern tour. Referring to reports tion Company" is planning to establish that the alliance would all rally round the Sub-treasury Bill, he remarked:

The issue is not the tariff or the free coinage of silver or the Sub-treasury Bill. The issue is the reform of our entire financial systems. Neither the issuance of more money nor the collection of less tax will alone do the people any good. The entire financial system of the Government must be changed before anything else may be done to correct the existing evils.

There seem to be gentlemen of the "walking delegate" order among the farmers too, although they ride instead of walking. Perry B. Maxson, who wanted to succeed Senator Ingails last winter, is preparing a manifesto for dissemination among the members of the alliance, in which he proposes to show that the farmers are each year getting less for their products, and that the poverty among the producing classes is so great that, unless there is a change in the form of government, the country will become depopulated. Commenting on this the Kansas City Star says: "Mr. Maxson is an 'agriculturist' who owns a farm in Lyon county which supports him without and which keeps him on the railroads or on the highways of Kansas in a comofortable turnout every day in the year when a man who is enerwated by luxury is able to get about.

He is bringing diplomacy to bear on bacon, and if he succeeds in securing the removal of the embargo on the American hog, he will make of himself the most practical of all the diplomats who hover around the effete capitals of Europe.

Dr. CLAFLIN, who is known to many in Los Augeles, having been here and become financially interested during the boom, is, according to a Chicago dispatch, likely to become "big rich."
He is said to have been summoned to London by cablegram from his solicitor, Herbert Giadstone. Dr. Ciaffin is a brother of Victoria Woodhull and Tenny C, Claffin, and his wife is one of | gear.

many heirs to the great Edwards estate in New York. Dr. Claffin expects to receive the greater part of the vaestate, which is estimated at $200,000. 000. Many of the Edwards beirs fulled to comply with the requirements of the English law in regard to "proving up" and their shares, Dr. Claffin's solicitors think, will go to him.

BIG FISH STORIES

Either the story of Jonah, which has proved such a theological stumblingblock, may have been an actual fact or some modern correspondents are de veloping wonderful powers of imagination in the line of fish stories. We recently published an account from an eastern paper of how a sailor fell into the Atlantic and spent thirty-six hours in the stomach of a whale, from which secluded retreat he was extracted, still alive, when the whale was cut up by the crew. Now comes a story from Tacoma to the effect that a Jap sailor on the bark Guy C. Goss, which had arrived there from Yokohama, fell verboard in a gale and was swal lowed by a whale. Shortly after-ward his whaleship was seen to be writhing in agony and rectly the sailor was vomited forth. failing conveniently on the deck. With careful nursing he was brought to consciousness, and is now as well as ever. The experience, he says, was a nost terrible one, the crushing in the whale's jaws nearly killing him. The sailor wore an oil suit, which he had covered with kerosene oil. It is supposed it disagreed with the whale, and saved the sailor's life. He thinks the whale tried to swallow him, but was unable to do so.

This story was considered of sufficient importance to be telegraphed and printed in Saturday's San Francisco papers. It is important-"if true." It will, however, be almost as hard for the public to swallow the story as it was for the whale to swallow Mr. His-

PRESIDENT AL PRATTLE.

Col. Elliott F. Shepard of the New York Mail and Express has been talk ng to a reporter about Presidential prospects. He thinks Mr. Harrison will undoubtedly be renominated, and says he knows that Mr. Blainedues not seek the nomination and would not ac cept it under any circumstances. Mr Shepard speaks very confidently, say ing: "Gen. Harrison will be as shrely occupying the Presidential chair next term as I am occupying this one at this moment."

Still, even better prophets than Shepard have been deceived. In this connection a report may be mentioned that Col. Shepard is a candidate for a abinet position. .

W. W. Dudley also thinks he knows a good deal about the Democratic nomination, which he says he would be willing to bet will go to Gorman who is satisfactory to the South.

Meantime, Chief Justice Fuller has appeared on the horizon as a remote Presidential possibility, the Washington Sunday Gazette having consti tuted itself an organ of the movement. The Gazette has been urging as one reason for his nomination the asserted probability that Islinois would in that event go Democratic. Such hope meets no encouragement from the with press of Chicago, which further urges the unseemliness of a chief justice becoming a candidate while upon the bench. THE Naval Annual, an English publication compiled by Lord Brassey, shows this year that the United States and Spain lead all other nations in the swiftness of their war vessels, and that we rank first with England and Italy in the strenght of vessel armors. England leads in tonnage and in ship building, and France in the number of vessels available for war. The United States stands third in tonnage and ranks second with France and Italy in umber of ships t On the whole, therefore, the outcome of the year shows remarkable progress made by this country toward building up and strengthening of its

Reported Bargain with the Little Chief,

ON THE GIVE-AND-TAKE BASIS

By Which the Maine Man will Declin the Presidential Nomination In Hope of Controlling Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON, July 21 .- The : Wash ngton Star tonight prints an article on Secretary Blaine which is believed to have been inspired. Mr. Blaine and Crosby Noyes, the editor of the Star, are warm personal friends, and as the article is published in doubleleaded type the inference is that the information has come from first hands through Editor Noyes. It will not be news to the readers of the Herald that Blaine is out of the race for the Presidency in 1892 and that he is for Harrison, for this information has been con-veyed in the Herald's Washington dispatches. This inspired article, however, makes clear the price which Harrison has to pay for getting Blaine out of his way. Biaine must have full swing in the State Department to carry out his fore gn policy in his own way or Mr. Harrison may not get the nomination. Blaine's posi-tion, according to his editorial friend, is that he can have the nomination if he wants it, but that he will not take it if Harrison will promise to let him alone. According to the same author ity the bargain has already been made and for the chance to win a second term Harrison has surrendered the tuture foreign policy of his administration, both in this term and the second, should be be lucky enough to get a second, to his Secretary of State. The Star's article is as follows:

"It is learned through reliable sources here that Mr. Blaine is gradureliable ally preparing to resume charge of the State Department affairs. He now has his private secretary with him, and is getting together the loose ends of his work which he let drop so suddenly when he was first taken sick. It can hardly be said that he is actually at work yet, and the most he will under-take for some time, if his health contiques to improve, will be merely in an advisory capacity; but he is begin-ning to inform himself about the af-fairs of the administration and to test his capacity for work. Some time ago, when he first began to feel better, he sent for his private secre-tary to come to Bar Harbor, but Mrs. Biane and his doctors opposed his burdening his mind with official cares, even to a limited excent, and the private secretary did not remain more than one day. A little less than a week ago Mr. Dent was sent for again, and he has been with Mr. Biaine ever since. The reawakening of interest in his work has not. It is said, retarded his recovery, but on the contrary, beneficial to him. Thi being the case it is believed that he will be able to resume his former position in the administration in the fall.

BLAINE'S TERMS TO HARRISON. Some of Mr. Biaine's triends declare, and the President, it is said, has become convinced, that the Maine statesman has abaudoned any idea he may have had of being a candidate in 1892. Some of his friends believe that newspapers friendly to Mr. Harrison have given too ready credence to alarm ing reports of his severe iliness, especially with the knowledge that his own nervousness on that point would make him the first to take alarm. Mrs. Biaine is opposed to his again being a candidate, and he would not run any great risk to his health for the houor. It is said that he has given evidence of a disinctination to permit the use of his name in connection with the Pres-ideucy. It is believed Mr. Blaine has told the President in so many words that he will not be a candidate. At all events, Mr. Harrison is said to be satisfied that Mr. Blaine will not op-pose him. Mr. Harrison's understandpose film. All risalisation is that Mr. Blaine would be better satisfied to be permitted to continue for another four years in the State Department and to be allowed to carry out his own policy in history way than to make a run for the Presidency. Perhaps Mr. Harri-son may be whing to give Mr. Biaine greater latitude and to interiere less with his foreign policy in the future, if Mr. Blame in return will not stand in the way of his renomination.

"Mr. Blame's plans for the future of this country, from the point of view of the State Department, are of too great magnitude to be carried out to com-pletion during the short time left of pletion during the short time leit of his administration. Mr. Harrison understands well that Mr. Biaine is so interested in the work that he will make any personal sacrifice necessary to carry it on. He might abandon all ambition to be President to devote his time to the extension of his foreign policy, or he might seek the nomination if the receiving of Mr. Harrison would not open to him the son would not open to him the prospect of being able to continue his work. As between having Mr. Blaine work. As between having Mr. Blaine for a rival before the convention and giving him full sweep for an is foreign policy, there can be but little doubt which Mr. Harrison's choice would be. Statistics of the trade between this country and all those south of us which have been prepared, show quite a remarkable increase of commerce during the past two and a half years, being greater each year. This and the greater each year. This and the fact that there seems to be consider-able promise of popular tayor in the cry of reciprocity as an affect to the restrictions imposed on commerce by the McK nley bill, makes the President more ready to adopt and make prominent Mr. Blaine's ideas.

BLAINE OUT OF THE RACE. "When the Home Market Club of spring, at which Secretary Tracy made his famous speech, calling forth so many cheers for Mr. Blaine, it was the desire of the club to have Mr. Blaine himself present. A committee waited on h m with an invitation. He replied that he did not have time to attend. They were pressing, and as an inducement, told him that he would make many friends by appearing there and delivering a speech on the subject of the extension of our southern trade. 'I have no desire,' he said, 'to make friends in the sense you mean. I shall never have any use for them. When they could have helped me they passed resolutions antagonizing me, I have no desire to make friends in the sense you mean. When they could have helped me they passed resolutions antagonizing me, I have no desire to make friends in the sense you mean. Why do you not invite President Harrison or Mr. Reed?' The committee was not offended at this plain talk, but all arguments were useless. He would not accept. Shortly before he left for New York the last time, just before his attack of iliness, he was in conversation with an Hilmoss, he was in conversation with an Hilmoss member of Congress. He asked the Boston gave its great dinner last member if there was any seriousness in the talk of Cullom for the Presidepoy. The member said there was. 'Well,' replied Mr. Blaine, 'many less likely things than his nomination have occurred. I believe that Mr. Harrison will be renominated, but if he is not, I think some one like Cuilom or Rusk, who is near to the soil, will be nominated.'"

MR. HARRISON NOT RESPONSIBLE. [Washington Star July 22.]
A gentleman who is usually well informed on matters relating to the administration, and who expects to see Mr. Harrison renominated, said to a Starreporter today: "I can see no motive for the friends

"I can see no motive for the friends of Mr. Harrison to desire the state of Mr. Blaine's health to be misrepresented, and I do not think they are responsible for the alarming stories that have been printed. Mr. Blaine does not want to be a candidate in '92. All he wants is to continue the work he has been doing. He has given Mr. Harrison to understand this and I suppose has told him in so many words that he will not be a candidate. Unless you assume that Mr. Harrison believes that the people will nominate lieves that the people will nominate Biaine in spite of a declination, if his health will permit, you can find no motive for trying to make the public believe that his health is gone."

Mr. Blaine is evidently greatly im-proved in health. His private secre-tary, Mr. Deut, has been with him for nearly a week, and he is resuming his work. SALTON LAKE LEGENDS.

How the Future Will Look Back on

[New York Advertiser.] We are apt to think that a myth is a growth whose roots find nourishment only in the distant past. But this is only in the d stant past. But this is an error. We have, no doubt, for instance, that an abie-bodied legend is at this very moment sprouting up on the banks of the Salton Lake.

We hear that already some enterprising western hustler contemplates building a hotel on its rather raw banks, and we have no doubt that within a "few years summer girls, seated upon its broad piazzas, will be listening in wild-eyed wonder to the tale of how that lake was born.

Which, accordingly, it did. And no one would ever have known exactly what happened on the day when, after a long battle, the waves of the sea overcame the waves of the earth, but for the extremely fortunate and remarkable circumstances that, precisely there chanced to be seated on a coign of vantage, in the midst of those vast solitudes, the ubiquitous reporter of an ubiquitous journal. He came, he saw, he wrote, What will it matter to the summer at this thrilling and dramatic juncture

And if this conquest of the desert shall turn out to be permanent, and trees and flowers and grass shall overspread a region given over before to desolution, what will be the harm if the halo of poetry be thrown over it all? The medicine men of old made their myths out of the whole coth. Why should the same privilege be denied a modern newspaper?

It is well known that at the southern extremity of Patagonia the huanacos have a dying place, a spot to which all rounding plains repair at the appr of death to deposit their bones. of death to deposit their bones. Dar-win and Fitzroy first recorded this strange instinct in their personal narratives, and their observations have since been fully confirmed by others. The best known of these dying or burial places are on the banks of the Santa Cruz and Gal-legos rivers, where the river valleys are covered with dense primeval thick-ets of bushes and trees of stunted ets of bushes and trees of stunted grwoth, says the writer in Longman's Magazine. tain sides! What a subject for a painter! The gray wilderness of dwarf thorn trees, aged and grotesque and scanty leaved, nourished for a thousand years on the bones that whiten the stony ground at their roots, the interior lit faintly with the rays of the departing sun, chill and gray and silent and motionless—the huanaco's G lgotha. In the long centuries stretching back into a dim, immeasurable past, so many of this race have journeyed hither from the mountain and the plain to suffer the sharp pang of death, that, to the imagination, something of it all seems to have passed into that hushed and mournful nature. And now one more, the latest pilgrim, has come, all his little strength spent in his struggles to penetrate the close thicket, looking old and gaunt and ghostly in the twilight, with long, ragged hair, staring into the gloom out of death-dimmed, sunken eyes. One artist we have who might show it to us on canvas, who would be able to catch the feeling of such a scene—of that mysterious, passionless tragedy of nature—the painter, I mean, of "The Prodigal" and "The Lioness Defending Her Cubs."

To his account of the animal's dying place and instinct Darwin adia: " condition of hysterics over the new invasion headed by "the erazy-quilt nolition of Iowa and the accident of Kansas." Never in the history of Jorgiah have they been so stirred up before. Not even when Old Tecumseh with his "Turies of hell and surging forces of batted" went "marchin" thro" the State, on route to the sea, were they in such a france condition as now, though ueither of the present invaders carries weapons more powerful than that with which Sampson slew the Pulistines. In those days the Bourbons stood firmly which Sampson siew the Philistines. In those days the Bourbons stood firmly together. There were no desertions from the ranks. But now the crazy quilt and the accident have come down upon them like the wolf upon the fold, and moss-covered and rock-buttreesed Bourbonism is disintegrating under their blows. Lured by the siren voices of these western humbugs, fascinated with prospects of unlimited money and the minimum of tabor, tempted with smoking barbecues, the ranks of the faithful are rapidly thinning out, as by twos and threes and companies they straggle off and join the crowd which is following the "emissaries of a mottled and unsanctified political faith." In vain the old leaders shout and gesticulate to them to come back. They swarm after these unsavory evangelists as if they were hypnotized by them, and the old structure of Jorgiah Bourbonism is cracking and melting away like heres under a summer au Bourbonism is cracking and melting away like bergs under a summer sun. The appeals of the old Bourbons are even pathetic in their protests, as wit-ness this from the Rome Tribune, one of the few faithful sentinels still ness this from the kome Tribune, one of the few faithful sentinels still standing at its post:

There is a prophecy of evil upon the land. There is a nomen of trouble in the unfolded and unfolding events of this dy. The fact cannot be disguised that there has come into Georgia an element of discird and a pot ney of disruption. After years of peace and prosperity; after years of rest and quietude from the storms of strife and the lashing billows of maddened passion; after years of freedom from the furles of hell and the surging forces of hatred without and traitorism within, this noble old State, this dear old mother of loving sens and lovely, trusting and confiding daughters, is on the verge of a conflict which, when it shall burst upon her, will cause the dark days of 61-65 to glow with the benediction of heaven and the light of the sweetest peace that ever smiled upon a people.

After this frenzied effort its protest dies away in the following pathetic

why this invasion of Georgia by men who are the mouthpieces of strange teachings, the emissaries of an unknown god? Why this bringing from afar, these evangeists of a new doctrine, these propaganuists of a motiled and unsanctified faith? Is Georgia's glory gone? Has the glory departed from Georgia, and are there none of her sons brave enough, and capable enough, and trusted enough to lead their brothers into ways of pleasantness and paths of peace? Has it come to this, that the name of Georgian is but another for poliroon, demagozue, traitor and coward? Has it come to this, that Georgians must be taught their duty as citizens by a crazy quitt politician from Iowa, and an accident from Kansar?

Then God help us! Then let the angel of Then God neep us! Then less angelve oblivion kindly cover the names of Crawford, of Stephens, of Toombs, of Hill, of Jennings, of Johnson, of Gordon, of Grady, and obliterate forever the story of their lives and their works.

Mean while the crazy quilt and the accident are making the most of their opportualty and are marching straight through the Bourbon camps, carrying everything before them as did Old Teeverything before them as did Old Te-cumseh when he went through the shell. Crowds come to them from miles around and every man who lis-tens is infected and straightway be-comes an evangelist and goes back home to spread the mottled and un-sanctified faith among his neighbors, and establish crazy-quitt lodges, in which the new doctrine shall be-taught. Truly, it is hard lines in Jor-grah when Toombs, Hill, Stepheus, Gordon and Grady are forgotten and Sockless Simpson and Crazy-quilt Weaver can inspire the masses of the people to turn and rend the fabric of people to turn and rend the fabric of Bourbonism which they constructed. No wonder the pathetic bleats of the leaders are heard everywhere vainly calling the crazy sheep back to the fold! It is useless. Their eyes are

By Telegraph to The Times. CHINO, (via Ontario,) July 26 .-[Special to THE TIMES.] This afternoon, four men, three Spaniards and one German, were shaking dice. The German, named Bodmer, was charged by the others with cheating, by holding one dice in his little finger, and when all were thrown he let the one go, thereby gaining the game. One of the Mexicans, named Manuel Zyvas, saw this, and complained, with a threat of what he would do if repeated. It was done again, then Zyvas pulled Bodmer out of doors and comnenced to deal blows at him with a knife. Then the other two Span-iards came, and all three were against Bodmer. He succeeded in ex ricating himself, and ran into the boarding-house kitchen near by, where he caught up a butcher-knife, came out and stabbed Zyvas twice in the right side of his spine, just above the hip. The men were separated. A doctor was called and found the wounds quite serious. There are hopes that Zyvas will recover. The blame is generally laid on the German. Bodmer has his right two foreingers cut to the bone.

A TALK WITH DEPEW

He is Not in the Fight for the Presidency.

Harrison will be the Republican Standard Bearer in '92.

Blaine is Popular and Strong, but will Not be Nominated.

Republicans will Enter the Campaign Completely United-The Democrats Divided on the Silver Question.

31 Telegraph to The Times.

London, July 26 .- [By Cable and Associated Press.] An interview with Chuncey M. Depew was published in a London paper this morning. Depew deprecated the suggestion that he was likely to be the man to champion the Republican cause in the next Presidential election in the United States He said he believed Harrison would carry the election as the Republican candidate.

"Mr. Blaine," he continued, "is the strongest man politically and the most popular, but still in my belief Harrison will be renominated. That is my decided opinion, no matter what candidates other than Harrison may be spoken about."

When asked whom the Democrats are likely to nominate, Depew, premising that he spoke a year in advance of the nomination, said that he believed Cleveland was the most likely candidate, but that the Democrats would not be as unanimous for Clevelend as the Republicans would be for their

"Bad times," Depew said, "will disappear under the assured prosperity of the farmers. The McKinley tariff will do a very great deal to carry the election for the Republicans, especially will the reciprocity clause do a great deal. Harrison would win on the tariff and silver questions. Certainly the republicans erred in passing the McKinley bill just before the elec tions. The worst effects of the bill were felt at once, just in time to cause were felt at once, just in time to cause a Republican defeat, but it was not a Democratic majority, but a majority of Democrats and cranks. American politics were very mixed just them. Now they are ciarifying, and the benefits of the McKinley law are becoming felt. As an illustration, the Farmer's Alliance is an outcome."

"Then I am to understand that the Republicans will stand strongly by the tariff question?"

"Certainly. You will ask me what the programme of the Democrats is to oppose us. On this point they will advocate a modified form of free trade, tariff for revenue, not protection, sufficient tariff to keep the Government going without any regard for safe guarding American industries. Now let me pass to what will be the second plank in the fight for the Presidency. I mean the silver question, or bimetalsm, as you would call it in England. Upon the silver question the Republicans are practically unnanimous, while the Democrats are divided among themselves. What will be the Republicans' proposals? Shortly, that we shall coin only silver produced in America. By this means we should keep ourselves on a gold basis which is the standard basis of the world. The Democrats will propose to coin all silver prot colls.

The Eminent Chinese Physician.

DR. WOH.

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and investigation, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human sickness and disease. Born in China, of influential parents, of a family whose ancestors have been for generations deservingly renowned as leading physicians, Dr. Woh naturally followed in the footsteps of his fathers. In China he has practiced his profession for several years, being at one time a physician in the imperial Hospital, and in America for a long-time his creat number of patients, his wonderful and many cures, and the great list of letters from grateful and thankful patrons now prove him to be a remarkable and successful ful patrons now proven in to be a remarkable and successful healer of sickness and all diseases.

LITERARY INDUSTRIES. A Memoir. By HUBERT HOWE BANCROFT. (New York: Harpor & Brothers. Franklin Square. For Sale by Stoli & Thayer, Los Angeles.)

Harpor & Brothers Frankin Square. For Sale by Stoli & Thayer, Los Angeles.)

We like to know something of the men who have made their impress upon the age in which they have lived, who have set for themselves noble tasks for achievement, and a life mark embodying thought as well as action. The noble work accomplished by Mr. Hubert Howe Bancroft will prove an immortal monument to his memory. Of his methods of work, and of the influences which led him to choose his field of literary labor he tells us in the volume before us. From every source he gleaned the material for his great history. Step by step as the field opened out before his research his history. Step by step as the field opened out before his research his ambition and his resolve expanded and mounted. He gathered a vast library of literary, historic, archieological, ethnological material, and the day came when he feit his collection was relatively complete and ready for use. As the extent of the field covered became clearer with each addition to its magazine of facts, his conceptions crystallized more and more definitely into a gigantic scheme of history. With characteristically American audacity, he determined to take upon himself a work, the like of which, if audacity, he determined to take upon himself a work, the like of which, if ever approached in the past, had been confined to some learned body, or some monastic order, carried on at the cost of some wealthy government, and extended over some generations of time. That one man, and he first a man of business, and but incidentally a man of letters, should undertake man of letters, should undertake to write the history of the greater part of the new world, should project a literary series of thirty-nine large octavo volumes, and should consider it possible to carry out this collossal enter-prise within his own lifetime, may well have seemed preposterous to the average observer.

But this memoir throws light, not But this memoir throws light, not only upon the life and character of the man, but upon the manner of the acutevement of his purpose, and it will not only have its inspiring influence upon the young, but will be read with interest by the thousands who place a just value upon the great history which he has given to the world.

DONALD ROSS OF HEIMRA. A Novel. By WILLIAM BLACK author of "Prince Fortunatus." "Molecod of Dare," etc., etc. (New York: Harper & Brothers. For sale by Stoil & Taayer, Los Angeles.)

William Black is one of the most vivid of word-painters. There is always a wonderful charm about his always a wonderful charm about his pen-pictures. He makes his readers breathe the outer air and see the glory of lake and mountain. The volume before us is a rare picture of Scottish Highland scenery, with all the pure sweet romance that is born in young hearts. We walk with him by the seashore, or climb the lonely crags amid the solitudes of nature. But under and over all we feel the thrill of young heart-least and delight in the noble heart-beats, and delight in the noble hero of his tale not less than the beau-tiful lass whom he woos and wins. Among modern fiction writers there are none more deservedly popular than Black, who never offends but always puts us en rapport with nature and with the best that there is in humanity. DEVOTON TO ST. CONFESSIONS OF A NUN. By SISTER AGATHA. (Philadelphia: ordan Brothers. For sale by Stoli & Thayer, Los Angeles.)

This little work is purely anti-Catholic literature, and the confessions of the writer, if truthfully narrated, tend to shock the world. It is a realistic work, yet one loving humanity could but wish that it might not be a truthful picture of life behind the convent ful picture of life behind the couvent rui picture of life behind the convent walls. The position of the recluse is attacked mainly on the ground of its unnaturalness. This view, with the general reader will be regarded as a forceful one.

BANKING ON THE RAIL.

New Zealand Ingenuity Devises a Traveling Monetary Institution. The managers of a bank in New Zealand have hit upon a scheme for an extension of business that is said to be meeting with great success. It has a special car which makes regular visits to the country districts, and at every station where it stops it receives deposits, cashes checke, negotiates loans and does all the regular work or a bank. This plan is a great convenience to the settlers, who are scattered over a wide area, and were it not for the new is strangement they would be obliged to leave their farms and go to town when-leave their farms and go to town whenever they have business to transact.

The car is fitted up something like the "pay-car" of an American railway, and it is said that the enterprising bank manager who caused the experiment to be made, took his idea from our pay-car and improved upon the original. In this connection it is proper to say that in New Zesland there, are faw farms or estates without heavy few farms or estates without heavy mortgages, and the public debt of the country averages $300 for every white man, woman and child of the popula-tion. The annual taxation is about $17 per head, but nobody seems inclined to run away from the country on that account.

CITY STREETS AND COUNTRY BOADS

The Former Are as Bad as the Latter and Exert Much Influence.

In the movement for an improvement of the common roads and country highways, more or less surprise has been expressed from time to time that the country people should themselves seem luke-warm and uninterested in the agitation. In the first instance the farming classes are afraid that if extensive improvements be made the burden of paying for them will rest almost entirely upon those who own the property through which the new roads or reconstructed roads run. This fear is a most natural one and country people ought not to be blamed for it. Such roads as now exist have been built and are maintained by local taxation, and this taxation at present, miserable as the highways are, is not inconsiderable. The profits on agriculture, as at present conducted, are not sufficiently large to enable farmers to contemplate the prospect of an increase of taxation with any degree of comfort. Under the circumstances they are not unanimously enthusiastic in support of the road improvement movement.

The present movement was begun, I believe, by the League of American Wheelmen; that is, by the bicycle riders. There is on this account an impression in the country that the desire for better roads is merely in the interest of a sport in which hardworking farmers do not participate, and with which they have no sympathy. Such an idea as this is silly, of course. But it does exist, and therefore it must be counteracted. Of course the wheelmen were selfish in the beginning of the agitation for better roads, but their own interests in the improvement of the great interior means of communication are so inconsiderable in comparison with the many others affected that they would scarcely count in an enumeration of the benefits which would result from an extensive realization from the movement which they have started. The third reason for indifference on the part of country people is the most serious of all. The great masses of them, I fear, do not really believe that there can be any better roads. They have no seen any, nor did their fathers or grand fathers. They are not extensive traveler and when we tell them of the beautiful roads in Switzerland, France and England, or recall the wonderful achieve signed and built the highways which radiated from imperial Rome, or more wonderful roads which the Incas of Peru cut out of solid rock and constructed across almost fathomless abysses they listen with incredulity and count the ancient instances as fairy tales and the modern examples as entertaining yarns, which sailors and other travelers are privileged to invent. When it is insisted that all that is told in these regards is true, the untraveled farmer very likely asks himself if this be so why does he not see something like good roads when he goes to the nearest city in his section. That is very natural in him. He has been led to believe that in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and the other great centers there is everything which wealth can purchase or an enlightened civilization require.

But what does he see in these cities? He certainly does not see good roads. City people do nearly all of their riding on railroads, and the great majority of them do not realize what wretched streets they have. The city roadways are not built any better, considering the traffic that passes over them, than the country roads which horrify the urban for his summer outing. More than this, they are more badly treated than the country roads and the maintenance is even worse. A gentleman who has lived for forty years in a short street just off Broadway, in New York, told me the other day that not a week had passed during all that period in which some part of the 200 feet of pavement on his block had not been torn up at least once and sometimes as many as a dozen times.
When city people tolerate such streets as they do, it ill becomes them to preach to country folks about the bad roads in rural sections.

There is no excuse for bad city streets. Enough money is spent to make them perfect. Allowance is always made for the employment of competent engineers and therefore the bad condition of road ways which is almost universal in Amer ican cities cannot be attributed to any lack of knowledge. The fault lies some where else, and not the least guilty per sons are the very men who find fault with the roads of their country neighbors. In town they are too busy to bother about anything except the busi-ness in which each is individually interested. They do not see what is before them nearly every day in the year, and if they do see it they cannot afford the time to interest themselves in any move nent to bring about a better condition of things. But in the summer, during the vacation days, they have plenty of time to find fault with the common country roads and to heap up abuse on the farmers who are content to live all the year round with nothing better over which to go than these poor highways. The farmers, without the means to do much better and without the knowledge to build good roads if they had the means, must stand all this abuse meekly. But they could retort by asking the city gentlemen to set a better example by seeing that the roadways in the thoroughfares were properly built and decently maintained.

thoroughtares were properly built and decently maintained.

The only large city in America which has tolerably good pavements and also excellent roadways connecting it with the outlying towns is Boston. And the result of Boston's example can be seen all over New England. The roads in the country are not excellent, judged by a European standard, but compared with other American roads, not turnpikes, they are very good indeed. The New England farmer learns something when he goes to Boston and he puts it in practice when he reaches home. And so it should be all over the country. The large cities should set an example in their public works which country folks would find it profitable to imitate.

Men and Their Ties.

It is tolerably safe, in these days of variety in dress, to judge a man by the necktie he wears. It gives a glimpse of character to the observant student of human nature. Look around in a Ful-ton street car and notice the different styles of men and the different styles of s. Without looking above the chin of any of the men you can size him up correctly nine times out of ten. If he wears a very large and very red scarf over a very loud checked shirt, with a fourteen carat chandelier diamond putting the sunbeams to sleep all about it, you don't hesitate in pronouncing him a young man that would sooner fight than

And if he wears a little hit of a black ribbon, tied in a very tight and slender sailor's knot that hangs straight down over a soiled shirt bosom, from the meeting place of the two ends of a turn down collar—why, you know without looking further that there's a thin, weazened face above it, with bright, beady eyes whose glances glide stealthily and quick-ly from one point to another—eyes which are restless, hard, greedy. You know that man is as stingy and ugly as the tie he wears. In contrast with this is the big, loose, white puff, with a small gold pin shoved carlessly through it from the side. There it lies on an immaculate linen front, as handsome and careless and captivating as the hearty, generou whole souled fellow whom it adorns.

Then there's the man who wears th white bowknot in the daytime; look out for him. He's a hypocrite or worse. And the man with the same four in and that he's worn for a week, soiled and crumpled—he's either very rich or very poor, head over heels in business or slovenly and mean, one or the other. The pale tinted tie is a sign of conceit. The polka dot is worn by the young man who don't care much for girls, but who takes to boating and swimming Solid black signifies a docile disposition satin finish means vanity of the worst type, and a checked tie—well, the man who wears a black and white check will steal chickens.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Japanese Wax Tree.
"Japan wax," as it is called, is obtained from a tree, Rhus succedances which is found in Japan, China and throughout the East Indies in general. In the Japanese language it is called haje or haze. The tree commences to bear fruit when five or six years old. and increases its product every year, till at the age of fifty years a single tree will produce 350 to 400 pounds of berries, from which seventy to eighty pounds of wax can be obtained.

The wax is formed in the middle of the berry, between the skin and the seed, like the pulp of a grape. It is extracted by boiling the berries in water and allowing it to cool, when the wax separates from the skin and seed, sinking to the bottom of the vessel in a solid cake. The specific gravity of this wax is 0.970, and its melting point 131 degs. Fahrenheit. It is largely used, either alone or mixed with tallow, by the Chi nese in the manufacture of candles.

This tree should not be confounded with the "tallow tree" of China, which has a pith of solid tallow in all trees that have fully matured.-St. Louis Repub-

RAILROAD VS. CITY.

Councilman Simpson Figures on the Question.

STRANGE SUNDAY WEATHER

Clouds and Oppressive Warmth Tomorrow Night at the Gymnasium-Locals, Personals and Brevities.

Granting that increased rates on the Terminal road are in effect for the next eight and a half years, has the city of Pasadena lost or gained in the matter of dollars and cents by this corporation? That is the question which Councilman Simpson attempted to answer on Saturday. The state ments prepared by him were omitted yesterday on account of lack of space. Following is a brief synopsis of his paper. It is a subject of great interest to every citizen, especially in the face of the statement made by a prominent citizen that if the higher rates go into effect, it will cost Pasadena $500,000 in ten years.

The paper shows that 27,774 roundtrip tickets, and 6249 straight-trip tickets were sold during the first six months of this year, from Pasadena to Los Angeles, or a daily average of 154 round-trip and not quite 35 straighttrip tickets. But making liberal allowances, and figuring on a basis of 250 round trips per day, in ten years we have 900,000 tickets, which years we have 900,000 tickets, which would net an increase to the railroad company at the advance of 10 cents in rates of $90,000. Figuring likewise on the straight trips, the company would gain $9000 in ten years at a 5-cent advance. This makes the total additional expenditure to the city for the decade $99,000 or $401,000 less than the half-million dollar calculation above referred to.

Continuing, the paper reads: "Now if this railroad corporation is chargable with this amount as coming out of the pockets of the people of Pasadena, then is it not entitled to credit for whatever good it may have done? When Capt. Cross came here, what was the condition of affairs? The Sauta Fé company was charging us for round-trip tickets to Los Angeles 45 cents and 25 cents for straight-trip tickets. When the L. A. P. & G. R. R. tickets. When the L. A. P. & G. R. R. commerced running one and a haif years ago, the fare was immediately reduced to 25 cents for the round trip and 20 cents for the straight trip." Figuring on this basis it was shown that the road since it has been operated has effected a saving in railroad fares of $28,350 to Pasadenians. For the ensuing eight and a half years a reduction of 10 cents on the old 45 cent rate will net a total saving on round trip tickets of $76,500 which added to the above amount gives which added to the above amount give a total of $104.850 to be placed to the credit of the railroad, which leaves a balance of $5850 to the company's credit over and above the indeb edness charged against them. This does not take into account commutation tickets. When the Terminal road came here, commuters paid $5.95 per month. Since January 1 last, when the $7 rate went into effect not a single commutation ticket has been sold, while at the $5 rate which went into operation when the Terminal road began running trains, there were over seventy-five

The paper concludes thus: "I look at it this way. The parties who are vitally interested in low rates are the commuters. Those who have occasion to go to the city once or even twice a week, if their business or pleasure calls are sufficiently urgent will not mind the 10 cents extra in each trip and a sufficient number of these added to the tourists and pleasure-seekers, who always have plenty of money, will make up to the railroad company a sufficient amount to enable it to run thout a loss of $1000 per month as friends of the fair sex. Many improvements have recently been made and the whole interior of the building will be handsomely decorated so that it will present a decidedly attractive appear-large attendance is assured. Ample accommodations have been made for the comfort of the ladies who have been favored with invitations. FROM THE FRYING PAN INTO THE FIRE. The ignorance displayed by the Daily Journal, a Los Angeles publication, on matters which it pretends to make a specialty of, is pitiable to con-template. After taking water on its statement that the recent case of Ah Yeong cost the county $24, it jumps from the frying pan into the fire in the following:

following:
"We are advised by a communication from Recorder Rose, who fined the Chinaman $20, that the conviction was for the violation of a city ordinance of Pasadena. Sec. 380, Penal Code, men-Pasadena. Sec. 330, Penal Code, mentions: fan-tan amongst a list of prohibited games, and says that any one who 'plays or bets at or against it is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by a fine of not less than $100, nor more than $500, or by impasanment in the County Jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.' Then it rollows conclusively that the city ordinance of Pasadena is void, and if the Chinaman had paid an attorney $20 to appeal the case to the Superior Court he would have at least secured $20 worth would have at least secured $20 worth of satisfaction."

As a matter of fact, nothing of the sort follows conclasively. If the Journal will acquaint itself with the case of Chin Yan, 60 Cal., page 82, who was tried in San Francisco for a similar offense, it will see that the Supreme Court decided with reference to a city order of the character that it was not in conflict with the section of the Fenal Code reserved to. The difference is that while the State law provides for gambling, the city ordinance provides for visiting gambling houses, and it was for the latter offense that Ah Yeong was arrested and convicted. Attorney Kuox of Los Angeles, who acted as counsel for the defendant, was convinced that an appeal would be useless, otherwise he would have made it.

RARE ELECTRICAL DISPLAY. Arturo Bandini witnessed a beautiful electrical display on East California street about 9 o'clock on Saturfornia street about 9 o'clock on Saturday evening. A large ball of fire, as of a mass of electricity bundled up, made its appearance and shot off in a north-easterly direction. Two more balls, heart-shaped, next appeared, and for fully five minutes shot hither and thither with the swiftness of lightning, one in the wake of the other, after the manner of two butterflies pursuing one another. Mr. Bandain has seen similar displays in Mexico, but never before in California.

THE HOT SPELL. It has been a long time since Pasalenians have had to endure such a long spell of hot weather as the past long spell of hot weather as the past ten days have brought forth. Saturd y the heat reached its climax. The thermometer registeerd 10°°C, and a hot breeze from the desert made things all the worse. Yesterday the sky was overcast with clouds, and the atmosphere was disagreeably suitry and oppressive until evening, when the sea breeze again made itself felt. SUNDAY CLOSING OF SALOONS

Budgets from Riverside, Redlands and Colton-The Orange Out-look-Mining Interests-Personal Mention

The Board of Supervisors will sit for the last time as a County Board of Equalization today.

The matter of Sunday closing of saloons is going to cause more trouble. The saloon-keepers quarrel among themselves as to what particular sa loon keeps open and which one closes. The result is that by these differences existing, the attention of the general public is brought directly to the fact that the law is violated. The saloonkeepers will have to cease creating disputes among themselves if they expect to successfully evade the Sunday law. It stood at 75°, recording the warmest night ever experienced in Santa Monthe next meeting of the Board of Trustees on Tuesday evening for discussion tes on Tuesday evening for discussion and it is believed that some action will be taken looking to the more effective enforcement of the city ordinance.

Work has already been commenced on the mountain road which is to be used to haul the supplies of the Arrowhead reservoir over. The work of construction is under the supervision of Jeff Daley, and will, when completed, open up communication with the mountains and furnish a scenic and picturesque drive for tourists. The new highway will have a 12 per cent, grade.

Some parties who ought to know state that ten cubic feet of good natural fertilizer per tree is none too much for an old bearing seedling. Younger trees in proportion. In other words, a good, big load to every ten trees. This costs something at 6 or 7 cauts a foot, but it pays many hundred per cent.

Tomorrow an important school election is to be held in Rediands. There tion is to be held in Rediands. There are three different questions before the electors, the proposition to establish a union high school, the issuance of $12. 000 for an addition to the school build ing, and a special tax of $2000 for school expenses of the current year. In the Crafton and Lugonia districts the question as to a high school is also to be voted on.

Mrs. Jeanne C. Carr, writing to a friend in Redlands, advises her to plant elm trees instead of maple.

the price to 10 cents per package. Some of the boys who were not in the combine, stepped in and cut the rate back to 5 cents. The result was a fight between the two gangs of boys, which was really no small affair. Finally the party that had raised prices won the day, and now no 5 cent fruit can be obtained at Banning.

This is the latest that is reported. Last spring a citizen of Cucamongo bought twenty acres for $2000, paying $300 down. This he planted to potatoes, onlons, etc., and the result is that he made evough to pay for his land.

SANTA MONICA. Santa Monica for the past two days has been a cilmatic Mecca, so to speak.

Santa Monica for the past two days has been a climatic Mecca, so to speak. Pligrims, without regard to race, sex, color, or previous condition of servitude, have found their way here by thousands. Hotel Arcadia and all public places were soon overflowed after the arrival of the 6 o'clock train Sajurday evening, and many found themselves foot-weary before they secured accommodations.

Yesterday morning the rush was almost unprecedented. Train after train arrived, until the crowded coaches numbered seventy-two—all crowded to their fullest capacity, including the front and rear platforms. It is afte to say that there were at least 8000 people at the seaside yesterday. This goes to show that special attractions at other resorts have no effect upon the popularity of our city by the sea.

The usual Saturday evening ball at the Arcadia was largely attended, and those present seemed to enjoy the delights of the dance, as far as the state of the weather would permit.

The Orange Industry in Paraguay. The orange tree is generally understood to have been introduced into Para guay by the Jesuits and the seeds dis tributed by the birds. However this may be, the orange has spread all over the country, from the river banks to the tops of the hills, and from the cottages to the deepest solitudes of the gin forest. Paraguay is the land of trees more truly than the coun orange trees more truly than the country of Mignon. And what oranges! Juicy, perfumed and of a delicacy that Spain and Italy have never attained. The chief industry consists in the ex-

The great orange season is from May to August, when the ports of the Paraguay river, from Humaita to Asuncion dispatch enormous quantities by steam-ers and schooners. Villeta, San Lorenzo and San Antonio are the principal ports, and there best may be seen the picturesque processions of laughing and screaming girls and women, who carry basket after basket of fruit on their heads from the shore to the ship, like a swarm of busy ants. Up to the present no industrial use has been made of the orange. Some sixty millions are exported annually, the same quantity is consumed by the natives, and perhaps treble that quantity is devoured monkeys and birds, or left to rot on the ground.-Theodore Child in Harper's. Where Horse Meat Soup Is Popular. Every day, at early morning, noon and evening, in Paris, you will see poor people gathering at certain shabby shops in the quarters of Belleville, Montmartre, the Batignolles and others of the sections outside the boulevards, where poverty houses are thickest, each armed with a tin pail, a pitcher or something else calculated to carry liquid. These receptacles are duly filled with thin but savory broth, ladeled from huge, steaming caldrons, and which costs only a cent or two a quart. I have drunk this bouillon and found it nourishing and good. It is made of the bones and scrape of horse meat after the choicer pieces are sold to the cheap restaurants, and the very essence and marrow of the meat are in it, for the boiling is kept up until the bones are fairly honeycombed and the meat reduced to shreds like bits of twine.

This broth provides the principal ani mal nonrishment for the average laborer in the gay city. He adds to it a few vegetables, thickens it with bread, and it having, as the cook book might say, been "seasoned to taste," makes a palat-able and hearty meal.—Alfred Trumble in New York Epoch.

THE RAIL AROUND THE JAIL

Don't you hol' yer head so high, Or you'll bust holes in the sky; When you walk the big earth jars, An' yer whiskers aweep the stars, An' you fill up the hull-street. Whirl the worl' roun' with yer feet, An' refuse to speak to me-Guess you don't know who I be.

So you won't say "howdy do,"
But I'm jest ez good ez you;
May hov less orig'nal sin,
If I hain't no dimon pin,
Ain't no line divides a man
From his fellers, understan';
Ain't no line except the rail
Of the fence aroun' the jail.

Ef I keep outside the rail Of this fence aroun' the jail, I'm a great gun, fit ter bang In the big Four Hundred gang: An' the president, understan', Is but jest my hired man; An' I watch an' boss wile he Does the nation's chores fer me What we're goin' to do bimeby

Fore the universe goes dry,
Is to make no diff runce—seel
Twixt sich chaps ex you an' me;
One be jest ex good ex tother,
Both in love 'th one another;
While we keep outside the rail
Of the fence aroun' the jail. You hain't got no bluer blood, An' yer wittles, fresh or stale, Comes from the same dinner pail. Thet's a good 'nough creed fer me Thet wuz taught in ol' Judee; Men are brothers; good enough; Men are bruthers; thet's the stuff!

An' the time is goin' to be An' the time is goin' to be Wen we'll come to that idee,
Thet all men outside the rail
Of the fence aroun' the jail,
Will all mis like gin'ral dough,
An' love's yeast will make it grow,
An' by thet time Natur's cake
Will be riz enough to bake.

Excitement in Tarpon Fishing. "I see," said Dick Quay the other ever ing, "that Mr. Dabbs has a tarpon on exhibition which he caught in Florida waters. The average weight of this fish is from 105 to 130 pounds, but I have seen them tip the scales at 200. The best catch my father ever made was nine in When he goes fishing he one night. When he goes fishing he takes a small boat and lots of strong line. The tarpon is like the trout, a very gamy fish, and when hooked soon wears him self out in darting around furiously in the water. The best time to fish for them is at night. "In still water they bite easy, and a good fisherman can land two out of every five hooked. In tide water they rush at the bait, and then are off as fast as they can swim. It is very exciting sport to see these big fish when caught jump six to get away. They will turn over on their sides on the surface of the water, but they soon exhaust themselves.

"The best fishing ground is in the still water on the west coast of Florida. It is hard to pull them out on the eastern side, as the tides are very swift."-Pittsburg Dispatch.

Chicago's New Chief of Police. Major R. W. McClaughry, the new su-perintendent of the Chicago police depart-ment, was one of the most successful managers of penitentiaries in the United States. He was warden at Joliet (Ills.) prison for fourteen years, and made it a model insti-tution of the kind. He resigned in 1889 take charge of the Huntington state in dustrial reformatory in Pennsylvania. As an organizer, manager of men and criminal expert Major McClaughry has few equals. He was born in Hancock county, Ills., July 22, 1839, and entered Monmouth college at an Fargo's express, to this city, a full account of which appeared in yesterday's Times.

Smith captured Perley at El Monte yesterday afterneon, and it is supposed that he robbed the Southern Pacific ticket office at that place night before last. Perley was hanging around the depot in a suspicious manner the evening before, and during the night some one broke in the ticket office and got away with $29. When searched Perley had no money on his person, but the officers are confident that he is the robber. At any rate they have a strong case against him for forgery.

Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen made complaint against the Union Pacific road, alleging mismanage ment and neglect on the part of the company, in that it operates a freight train on that portion of its system known as the Junction City and Fort Kearney road with but one brakeman, when two were required for the safety of passengers and em-ployés. The board of commissioners declined to consider the complaint for want of jurisdiction. It says:

"An issue thus made up between em

jurisdiction. It says:

"An issue thus made up between employes and officers is clearly one of judgment or opinion as to the management and operation of the road. It follows that any tribunal charged with the duty of a judical determination of the question, must assume the responsibility of determining which party shall have the power of control in the important particular of personal service, how many or how few men shall be employed to perform a given werk. In this, as in all other relations of men, it must be kept in mind that power and responsibility can never be separated. The one must follow the other in a logical and necessary connection. In determining the measure of personal service, the number of men required to perform a known task, there may be a wide divergence of judgment among men of equal knowledge and experience. It is a technical question relating to method and management, and in this case it must be left for final determination to an authority responsible alike to the State and the corporation for which it acts. In its contention the complainant may be right and the respondent wrong as to the number of men required to handle the train in question. It may be true trust complainant association is better qualified to manage the railroad in the interest of the State and its owners than the respondent, but the commission seeks in vain for authority in law to substitute the former for the latter. Indeed, we cannot see how any power could do this without relieving the railway company from legal responsibility to the State for results."

SCRAP HEAP.

The Southern California road did a treand engineers are now at work in Yucaipe. The route by this way affords a much better grade than through the San Timoteo Caffon. Southern P cific officials in San Francisco s y that statements concerning the overflow from the Colorado River into the Salton basin that the facts have been somewhat exaggerated, and that the result of the investigation by railroad engineers has demonstrated the fact that this overflow came from the Colorado River, and that as the river has been steadily failing for the past two weeks the overflow has been crespondingly reduced. All the rumors about the water reaching the track or even weakening the roadbed are unfounded, for even though any danger was threatened, the length of track which could be affected is less than one mile in length and there would be ample time to change the line before it could be reached.

Southern California road,

The Southern California Company will establish a pretty park at the San Bernardino terminus of the Belt road, at the east end of the Third street depot.

The new passenger station of the Terminal road at First street will be the handsomest structure of its kind in Los Angeles, excepting only the Arcade depot.

Now it is reported that the Southern Pacific Company will extend the motor line through Crafton and via Yucaipe to Beaumont. Grade stakes have already been set from Rediands to a point beyond Crafton,
